

WHAT CAN YOU DO WITH AN ECON DEGREE?

Katerina Powers, '15, started her career as an Associate Economist at the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago where she realized what she found most interesting about her job was the interaction of law and economics. After leaving the Fed for Boston University Law School, she spent a summer as a legal intern at the Federal Trade Commission: "There's not a day that goes by where those words 'monopoly,' 'complements'... 'deadweight loss' are not brought up in our litigation strategies." Katerina's next position will be Assistant District Attorney, representing the People of the State of New York.

DID YOU KNOW? THE MEDIAN SALARY FOR ECON MAJORS IS

$76,000/YEAR

"The Economic Value of College Majors" by Carnevale, et al., 2015

MSU ECON ALUMNI

JOB TITLES

- Chief Executive Officer
- Management Consultant
- Artist Marketing Manager
- Legislative Director
- Vice President of Investments
- Data Management Analyst
- Chief Global Strategist
- Chief Financial Officer
- Banking Editor
- Attorney
- Supply Chain Analyst
- Portfolio Manager
- Technical Threat Investigator

EMPLOYERS

- JP Morgan Asset Management
- Michigan Department of Environment, Great Lakes and Energy
- Cleveland Clinic
- SoundCloud
- National Archives
- Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago
- Lockheed Martin
- S&P Global Market Intelligence
- Consumer Financial Protection Bureau
- Qualtrics
- McKinsey and Company
- Deloitte
- Facebook

ADVANCED DEGREES

- Master's in Public Policy
- Master's in Applied Economics
- PhD in Economics
- MBA - Master's of Business Administration
- Master's in Public Health
- MD - Doctor of Medicine
- JD - Doctor of Law
- Master's in Health Administration
- Master's in Business Analytics
- Master's in Human Resources & Labor Relations
- Master's in Marketing Research
- PhD in Political Economy